ALASKA ACCUSES DENT AND TAYLOR IN BRIBE CHARGES

ASSEMBLY SEEKS TO CORRECT MASS OF TECHNICAL ERRORS IN $113 MILLION TAX MEASURE

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—(P)—The legislature sought today to correct a mass of technical errors in a $113 million tax package before sending it to Gov. John S. Fine for signature.

The errors crept into the series of tax bills in the senate's haste to dispose of the revenue-raising program last week. They range from clerical mistakes to conflicting clauses.

The package was sent to a senate-house conference committee by house last night after Republicans offered the assurance that the package would not be any more drastic than the measures.

The compromise tax program provides a speedup in collection of corporation taxes, levying of a one cent tax on real estate, an increase in inheritance taxes and repeal of tax exemptions enjoyed by some insurance firms, bus companies and for-hire truckers.

A top development, Sen. John H. Dant, Democratic floor leader and Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, GOP state chairman and senate president pro tempore were involved in the offer.

He made the statement to a special senate investigating committee investigating his charges he was offered a bribe to withdraw his opposition to the income levy.

The money offer, he said, was made Aug. 5 at the Hershey Hotel at nearby Hershey during a meeting between Gov. John S. Fine, seven Democratic senators and some administration leaders.

Halskus testified that Dant called himself aside during the dinner, quoting him as saying: "Tomorrow morning I have (Taylor) will send you a check for $700."

Dant walked to Taylor standing a few feet away, Halskus said, and saw that the check was actually for $750.

"I was told then my insurance would be taken care of and that the first stipend would come through Monday morning," said Halskus.

Halskus is an insurance broker among his several interests in his hometown of Patton.

The senator said the offer of state patronage was made to him at an earlier date.

"Senator Dant told me that should I go along with the state income tax, I would receive 50 state jobs under my control without outside sponsorship," said Halskus.

The Cambria county Democrat made the statement shortly after a special senate investigating committee opened a hearing on his charges that he was offered a patronage bribe to vote for the income levy.

Patronage is a political term used to describe the practice of requiring a prospective state employee to be endorsed by a political sponsor before going on the payroll. Most of the commonwealth's 50,000 workers are politically sponsored.

Fine Has Bill To Outlaw Communists In Keystone State

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—P—Gov. John S. Fine was handed a bill today to outlaw the Communist party in Pennsylvania.

The measure completed its legislative trip last night by winning unanimous house approval of senate amendments.

At the same time, another measure aimed at subversives, the loyalty oath bill, was due for a final vote in the house. It has been approved by the senate but drastically revised in the house state government committee.

The bill is backed by state veteran organizations and has the support of Gov. John S. Fine. It is strongly opposed by college organizations, Civil Rights groups and the state AFL and CIO.

It would require anti-Communist vows by all public workers in the state, including school teachers and elected officials, when applying for a job or filing as candidates.

The Communist party legislation sent to Fine would impose a maximum jail sentence of 20 years or a maximum fine of $10,000 on anyone "who participates in the revolutionary activities of the Communist party."

The bill specifically:

1. Makes it unlawful for the Communist party to receive any of the privileges of an incorporated body in the state.
2. Prohibits membership in the party in Pennsylvania.
3. Prohibits anyone from taking part in the "revolutionary" activities of the Communist party or any other party committed to the overthrow of the United States government by violence.
4. A previous law, passed in 1941, prohibits the filing of nomination petitions by any party whose purpose is the violent overthrow of the state or federal government. However, it does not name the Communist party by name.

Mercer, Dec. 11.—P—Judge Herbert A. Mook said he will pass sentence January 7 on three Mercer county men who pleaded guilty to gambling charges. The trio, indicted after a grand jury probe, pleaded guilty yesterday. They are Pete Rock of Sharon and Sam Antera and Emil Stone both of Greer.

FUND FOR HOME
Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—(P)—A bill appropriating $50,000 for construction of new buildings and repairs and improvements to existing structures at the George Washington School, Mercer county, won approval of the senate appropriations committee yesterday. It is sponsored by Rep. George F. McConnell (R-Mercer).

Pres. Truman Arranges Late Afternoon Conference With Democratic Chairman

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—President Truman arranged to talk today to Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney, who has called for "dramatic and drastic" cleanup in the wake of spreading tax scandals.

McKinney himself has been under fire for a stock deal in which he turned over a quick $65,000 profit on a $1,000 investment. Senator Albright (D-Ark.) said today there ought to be a full public airing of the transaction "for the good of the party."

McKinney was put on the White House calling list for a mid-afternoon appointment. There was no announcement on the subject of the conference, but it seemed certain they would discuss conditions exposed by the house tax investigation.

Mr. Truman cut short a Florida vacation and flew back here Sunday amid rumors that he was launching some sensational move in a tax matter. These reports led Mr. Truman might assign FBI director J. Edgar Hoover to a permanent-wide inquiry or might name a bi-partisan commission to investigate.

Two Mothers and Seven Children Burn To Death in Fire That Destroys Home

Summerville, S. C., Dec. 11.—P—Two mothers and seven children burned to death before dawn today in a fire that destroyed their five-room frame home one mile south of here.

"The whole house was afire and we couldn't get up to it," said firemen Ted Limehouse, who arrived at the Summerville fire truck at 5 a. m., in a light rain.

"An old couple—grandparents of all the kids—were the only ones who got out," Limehouse added.

Husbands of the two women had left home shortly before for work at a sawmill.

The dead: Mrs. Lewis Cook, 26, her three daughters Ruby Ann, 10, Linda, 3, and Mary, 1, and son John, 7; Mrs. Evelyn Still, 34, and her two daughters Susan, 7, and Ogretta, 5; and Barbara Ann Still, 4, a cousin of the children, who was visiting at the home for the night.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Still, were brought to Dorchester Hospital here but their burns were thought to be too serious.

"There was no way to tell how it started," Limehouse asserted. "Everything burned up. There probably was fire in the house, all right, because the two men had had breakfast."

City Dads Discuss Ways And Means to Have the Borough "Get Out of Private Business"

Warren Borough Council sped through a 72-minute session, Monday night, with only routine business to consider and at the close of the session Council President W. E. Rice said a word of farewell and extended thanks for the work well done to E. W. Patchen, G. H. Klinefelter, S. E. Kuhre, C. A. Miller, C. A. Maier, R. H. Trusler and R. J. Wilson, retiring members.

Confronted by several complaints from citizens at whose properties the borough has done work of various sorts, Council members, by their comments, indicated that the borough is well on its way to discontinuing this activity. "The sooner we get out of this private business, the better," said Mr. Rice, as he read a complaint from a resident of Russell street who claimed he was charged $11 for ineffective work in opening a sewer. "This is only one of many instances and I do not believe we should be in this private business," commented Borough Manager L. M. McConnell. In referring the above complaint to the borough manager, Mr. Rice declared that "we lose money every time we answer a call."

In another instance, a resident offered a compromise payment of $50 to wipe out a charge of $92.88 with which he had been billed as the result of the removal of a large tree which had fallen onto a neighboring house. It developed that not only had the tree been removed, but it was sawed into firewood lengths by borough employees and delivered to his home, an estimated four cords of wood. And then the stump was replaced in the original and reopened cavity. In still another case, a property owner agreed to pay $10 to settle a bill of $73.05 which came out of the borough's work in cleaning unsightly lots. It was agreed the charge was excessive because in their ardor to do a good job, borough workers had cleaned off adjoining property by mistake.

"Let's get out of this private business, and soon," agreed Council and voted to accept the compromise payments. Mr. McConnell indicated that he will have "a big list" of similar incidents to place before Council early in 1952 "to clean the slate."

Leon Laskaris, chairman of the finance committee, reported a total of $211,782.78 on hand in cash and securities, with a November tax receipt of $10,771.24. Expenditures for the month were $22,488.85, of which $14,746.12 was payroll.

Mr. Laskaris informed Council of the modernization of the (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Bold Bid Is Made To Topple Premier Mossadegh Regime

Tehran, Iran, Dec. 11.—(P)—Opposition deputies made a bold bid today to topple the government of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh as a Nationalist Movement member on the parliament (Majlis) gates, shouting for the blood of the aged premier's opponents.

Inside the packed building several persons were injured as supporters and opponents of the government fought briefly with fists and feet, delaying the parliament session.

When the majlis chamber finally was cleared of press and public and the session opened, opposition deputies at once leaped verbally to attack the premier, whose oil nationalization program ejected the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and ended Iran's chief revenue from oil production.

Yelling at the top of their lungs, the opposition accused Mossadegh of leading Iran into terror and ruin and demanded that he resign.

The crowd outside, realizing that the eight-month-old government was at stake, raced for radio loudspeakers to hear the broadcast of the session.

Some 500 army troops, armed with rifles and bayonets, were parked outside the building in trucks.

Some 42 oppositionists—deputies, newspaper editors and actors—have been in refuge inside the building during the weekend, charging they were in danger from Nationalist mobs, who sacked newspaper offices and a theater during Communist-Nationalist riots last Thursday.

Iran has a tradition that sanctuary may be sought in the parliament building. The aged Mossadegh himself has used the privilege on several occasions.

Top Auto Industry Involved in Probe

Detroit, Dec. 11.—P—Top auto industry executives may be called to explain sales practices which government agents claim have cost the country's defense effort more than $300,000,000 in excess profits in the last three years.

A congressional investigating committee, headed by Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.), heard the accusations yesterday as it opened week-long hearings into purchases by the army's tank-automotive center here.

Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.) suggested that automotive officials be called. Hardy said they had been "invited" to appear and that if they failed it might be necessary to subpoena them.

Committee Investigator John L. Shafer testified yesterday that the tank-automotive center has difficulty in purchasing parts directly from manufacturers.

He said manufacturers frequently refuse to bid on government contracts or else bid out of proportion so that the middlemen get a crack at the profits.

General Motors Corp., Electric Auto-Lite, Studebaker, Timken-Detroit Axle Co., and Chrysler were among these singled out for criticism.

FALL PROVES FATAL

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11.—(P)—A fall from a scaffold killed Thomas J. Coleman, 43, yesterday. Coleman was working on a construction job at the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp.

EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS IS UNDER DEBATE

Munsan, Korea, Wednesday, Dec. 12.—(P)—Communist truce negotiators Tuesday withdrew a tentative offer to allow Allied rotation of troops in Korea and pressed for a flat release of all war prisoners after an armistice is signed.

The Red attitude toward prisoner exchange came out during the first formal discussion with the Allies on this subject. It clashed with the United Nations proposal of a regulated exchange of prisoners on a "fair and equitable" man-for-man basis.

The prisoner question was taken up by a two-man subcommittee (one from each side) a few minutes after the Communists capitulated to Allied insistence that the subject be tackled now.

Simultaneously the Red negotiators intimated they would agree to continued rotation of troops and to two other Allied demands if the United Nations command would agree to neutral behind-the-lines inspection during a Korean armistice.

Later the tentative offer was withdrawn without the Allies saying how they felt about it.

The Red concessions rekindled hopes of a possible truce by Christmas.

The Reds complained that a U. N. plane bombed and strafed the security area surrounding their Kaesong headquarters. But it appeared the incident would be smoothed over.

There has been no official word on how many prisoners the Reds hold. But Lt. Col. Howard M. Lewis, U. N. spokesman, reported Communist broadcasts said 25,000 U. N. and South Korean troops were held by the Reds.

Col. James M. Hanley of the U. S. Eighth Army said recently the Reds have killed about 5,600 Americans after taking them prisoner. Fewer than 11,000 Americans have been reported missing in action, so Hanley's figures would leave only about 5,000 Americans as potential prisoners.

As a result of Tuesday's development in the truce tent city at Panmunjom, negotiators are working simultaneously on two of the three remaining clauses of a proposed armistice—supervision of the truce and exchange of prisoners.

The prisoner problem was tackled by Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, a recent addition to the U. N. command armistice team, and North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Cho, who has been directing Red talks on truce supervision.

Number Tax Fraud Cases on Increase

Washington, Dec. 11.—(P)—The number of tax fraud cases turned over to the Justice Department for prosecution increased two and a half times in July, August and September, compared with last year.

That was during the time a house subcommittee investigation of tax scandals, now running at full steam, was just beginning to warm up.

In the same period, despite the mounting total of fraud cases, there was a sharp decline in the number dropped without full prosecution.

This picture of a toughening in the government's drive against tax fraud was outlined today by Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap in a report to secretary of the treasury Snyder, who has general supervision over the Revenue Bureau.

Dunlap also reported that 46 revenue employees were fired and 22 quit while under investigation, from January through September. Few of these had been announced previously.

School Board Holds Election And Hears Reports at Busy Postponed December Session

Reorganizing for the year ahead and reelecting Melvin G. Keller as president and Ralph Brasington as vice president, school board members held a busy postponed December session last night at the high school building.

Since Treasurer Neil D. Paterson is one of two members retiring from the board this year, Wallace Cowden was named to complete the unexpired term in that office, resigning as secretary and allowing selection of F. E. Kieshauser to his former post.

The two new board members, Charles Frantz and Russell Hanson, were then seated in the required form.

Of particular interest among reports heard was that of the buildings and grounds committee concerning its weekend conference with Edmund Green, of the architectural firm of Lawrie and Green, on the present Johnson school, Conewango and Jefferson avenues.

Mr. Green told the committee he has been informed by Washington the local school district should receive its allocation of critical materials in time to start construction in July, beginning of the third quarter. When such allocation has been granted, the committee told him, the board will start taking bids for the work. This action was approved by the board, since the 30-day clause in contracts makes impractical any advertising prior to that time.

In connection with the construction of the national office set up to assist with securing of strategic materials has notified the board its plans are all in order except the requirement of too much copper to be used in wiring, plumbing and roof flashing. Board members feel, it was brought out, that copper for plumbing might be omitted from the plans, but flashings are a necessity. Where this material has been omitted from past construction, records show, replacement has become necessary in a short time and at additional expense.

As a result of conferences between school and Warren County Motor Club officials, a request was placed before the board for an additional instructor for the school driver-training program in the coming year. After discussion, the matter was referred to the committee on schools for further consideration and planning.

Also in connection with the driver-training program, a report was received from Ralph E. Thomas, in charge of the Atlantic Refining Company's safety testing team, that Warren students are "better than average" in comparison with all-state records. Local pupils compared very favorably with the others in safety factors of operation, he stated, while their mechanics of operation fell below the average because many had not continued actual driving after having been granted licenses.

A communication was read from the Pine Grove school board at Russell expressing its interest in further consideration of the matter of consolidation brought out at the recent combined dinner-meeting of township boards sending tuition pupils into borough schools.

Board members passed a motion that inasmuch as bleachers in use at War Memorial Field have served a long and useful life and are no longer adequate, they be withdrawn from further use.

A report received from the teacher committee recommended each professional employee be given a $200 advance in salary when the bills on salaries and subsidies already passed by the house and senate have been enacted into law.

Another teacher report concerned the resignation of Mrs. Patricia Allison as mathematics instructor at Beary Junior High School effective December 31st.

Three requests were received for (Turn to Page Eleven)

The couple arrived on the liner Queen Elizabeth. They will spend the holiday season in New York and then go to Florida.

Legislature Approves Proposal to Name Section and Highway for Late Secretary

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—P—A proposal to honor the late Ray F. Smock by naming a section of highway and a new bridge after him was approved by the legislature last night.

Both houses unanimously adopted a resolution to name Route 322 from Conneaut Lake east to Meadville, including a proposed bridge over French Creek, the "Ray F. Smock Memorial Highway and Bridge."

Smock served as State Secretary of Highways from 1946 until his death November 20.

The resolution said that Smock's administration of "the tremendous task of construction and maintenance of Pennsylvania's vast and intricate system of state highways merits the highest commendation and lasting recognition."

It calls on the Highways Department to place "suitable tablets or markers" indicating the road's name at intervals.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford), in introducing the resolution in the senate said that "for many years this improved highway and new bridge have been needed."

"I am sorry to say that Mr. Smock did not live to see this project completed," he added.

"All his life he was proud of being a native of Greenwood township and Crawford county. We in Crawford county are proud of having given him to the Commonwealth."

The house resolution was introduced by Rep. Wayburn E. Hall (R-Potter).

SENATOR SAYS OFFER MADE AT HERSHEY

Harrisburg, Dec. 11.—(P)—Sen. John J. Halskus (D-Cambria), said today a $750 check and a promise of state patronage were offered to him to vote for the discarded income tax proposal.

He said Sen. John H. Dant, Democratic floor leader and Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, GOP state chairman and senate president pro tempore were involved in the offer.

He made the statement to a special senate investigating committee investigating his charges he was offered a bribe to withdraw his opposition to the income levy.

The money offer, he said, was made Aug. 5 at the Hershey Hotel at nearby Hershey during a meeting between Gov. John S. Fine, seven Democratic senators and some administration leaders.

Halskus testified that Dant called himself aside during the dinner, quoting him as saying: "Tomorrow morning I have (Taylor) will send you a check for $700."

Dant walked to Taylor standing a few feet away, Halskus said, and saw that the check was actually for $750.

Final Spurt in Deer Hunting Season Is Expected When Doe Become Legal Friday

Warren county's deer hunting season seemed to be holding its breath today against a final spurt which is expected to launch itself at 7 a. m. Friday when antlerless season starts, lasting through Saturday.

County Treasurer Frank Miller said today that there has been a definite decline in applications for both resident and non-resident licenses, although the light fall of snow and colder weather were expected to attract many hunters from away.

The 9,810 antlerless licenses allotted to Warren county having been exhausted several weeks ago, Potter county today remained the only county in northern Pennsylvania where a license might be obtained, and Mr. Miller said this afternoon that its quota would be exhausted today. He was advised to not send any more applicants there as few licenses remained.

Not all holders of the 9,810 antlerless licenses for Warren county will be in the woods, Friday, because if a holder of such license has already killed a buck, his deer hunting for 1951 is over.

Fur-takers are currently turning their interest to placing traps for muskrats, the season for these extending from Dec. 1 until Jan. 15 at noon. These animals may be taken in unlimited numbers, and have considerably increased because there was no license period for them in 1950-51. Indications are that the rats have repopulated their areas beyond all expectation.

Mr. Miller today reminded hunters that there is no way in which they may transfer their antlerless license to another hunter when it has become useless to them by reason of having killed a buck. Game protectors, anticipating that some attempts may be made to hunt with antlerless licenses belonging to others, expect to be on the alert for such violations.

ADMITS KILLING

Uniontown, Dec. 11.—(P)—Judge H. Vance Cottom will hold a hearing later to determine the degree of murder of which Smith Hudson, 23, of nearby Morris Crossroads, is guilty. Hudson pleaded guilty to murder yesterday. He told Judge Cottom he fatally shot his uncle, John Ferguson, last June after a quarrel.

Former Resident Of North Warren In Important Post

The Rev. Lloyd Stanton Ruland, D. D., formerly of North Warren, has been made district secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church, for the Pacific Coast. It will be his task to bring about a closer and more vital relationship between the churches of the west coast and the work of the board. This step is in accord with the most recent trend in the church, looking toward further decentralization of administration throughout the church, and more active participation of all sections of the church in every aspect of the overseas program.

Dr. Ruland grew up in North Warren and attended Warren High School. His further preparation for the ministry was made at Westminster College and McCormick Theological Seminary. After his ordination he volunteered for missionary work and was sent to China where he met with success. At the time of the Boxer rebellion he was compelled to return to the U. S. A. He received a call to the pastorate of the West Presbyterian church of Binghamton, N. Y., a church of over a thousand members, where he distinguished himself both for his preaching and his administrative ability.

Then he was chosen as one of the secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions in New York, with the special responsibility of the oversight of the work in China, together with the whole of southeastern Asia. He has recently returned from a long tour by air over all that part of the world. Thus he is well fitted to take over this great, new challenge which has come to him.

After the first of the year all groups from Warren county, either for pre-induction examinations or for actual induction, will report in Harrisburg.

Trap the Rats

To the Editor:
Here's one I can't quite figure out. The story I found in the Oct. 17, 1951, issue of the Wisconsin State Journal. It says:
"MONROE—The city council Tuesday night heard the first reading of a proposed ordinance that would authorize package liquor stores in Monroe."

"A new plan for rat extermination was discussed. . . . The alternate plan provides for the setting of traps by the city. . . . As I say, this has me a little puzzled. But there's one thing sure. The city will certainly be setting traps—man traps—if it opens up liquor stores. So I think it ought to pass the rat extermination act so there would be nobody to run them. Don't you?"
RAGS

"We have 588 State Liquor Stores in Pennsylvania. They are owned and operated by the State. They dispense alcoholic beverages to thousands of other outlets, as well as to many hundreds of thousands of individuals." And at least one in every 16 of these "many hundreds of thousands of individuals" who buy liquor from the State he admits will become a drunkard. But not one of these 588 State Stores and not one of "thousands of other outlets" that he admits are constantly providing "more fuel" for this "raging conflagration" would he close up! Can it be possible that the man is sane?

Lad Hunting Accident Victim McKean County

One Republican: A 16-year-old schoolboy yesterday became third fatality in McKean county in the 1951 hunting season. After Lawrence Deptule, of 375 Third street, Erie, died in Kane Summit hospital early day—12 hours after he had been shot through the back and chest in an accident near JoJo, at three miles west of Kane. McKean County Coroner Elmer Elmer and State Game Protector Sam Shirey investigated the death with the former issuing certificate of accidental death. The victim was hunting in the area with two other Erie schoolboys, Robert H. Fullerton, and LaRue Boyd, 18. They had returned through the morning and returned to their car for a snack. As they started back into the woods, Fullerton stumbled and his 30-30 calibre rifle discharging. The soft-nosed bullet struck Deptule in the center of his back at the spine. He was rushed to the Kane Summit hospital where he was given emergency treatment and where abdominal surgery was performed to remove the bullet. His condition was extremely critical and he was admitted and although given only a slight chance of pull through, every possible emergency measure was taken. Death occurred at 12:17 a. m. Sunday. Removal was made to the J. F.

ANYBODY YOU KNOW?

Somewhere in the United States there walks a person doomed to a sudden death. He, or she, will be killed by an auto during the third week of December and will assume the dubious distinction of being the nation's millionth traffic fatality. The National Safety Council announced 10 months ago that the millionth traffic death since autos came into use would occur later this month. Now, despite everything traffic experts could do to stave it off, "D-(for death-Day)" for the millionth victim is approaching right on schedule. The first auto accident victim was killed in 1899. Up to Dec. 6, the death toll reached 988,100. Safety Council statisticians say the millionth fatality may fall on Dec. 21 or 22.

Hill funeral home and later to the Walter Iwanowski Funeral Home at Erie from where funeral rites have been arranged for Thursday morning.

Death of the youth was the third hunting season fatality in McKean county. Ray G. Himes, 32, Romney, W. Va., school principal, killed near Gardeau when he was mistaken for a turkey and Oliver Olson, 46, of Prenticeville, near Rixford, was killed in mistake for game or by a stray bullet. Investigation into death of Olson is continuing with a hearing for one suspect hinging on arrival of ballistics tests from state police laboratories at Harrisburg.

Two other persons have been wounded this season, Paul Schaeffer of Johnstown, a school principal, and Darrell Harlan, a Kane High school pupil, were wounded by scatter shot during the small game season.

Grange Women's Day Is New Event At the Farm Show

Harrisburg—With a new feature for farm women added for the first time at any Pennsylvania Farm Show, three major planned program attractions for rural women will be presented at the 36th show here next month, the Farm Show Commission announces.

Distinctly new at the January 14-18 Farm Show will be a "Pennsylvania State Grange Women's Day" arranged by the home economics committee of the State Grange. It will be held Tuesday morning and afternoon, January 15 in the Education Building. Preceding will be Mrs. C. Wesley Starr, Cheyney, chairman of the State Grange committee on home economics.

Other special programs for farm women include the 33rd annual convention of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania, opening Monday morning, January 14, and continuing through Tuesday afternoon, with a banquet Monday evening. The third feature is the annual Rural Life Center all day Thursday of Farm Show Week in the auditorium of the main show building. It provides a continuous program of entertainment and popular education for all members of the family, presenting sound movies, vocal music and dance numbers by representative rural groups.

The first annual Grange Women's Day at the Farm Show opens with a talk on home and family education in Pennsylvania, by Dr. Grace Henderson, dean of the School of Home Economics at the Pennsylvania State College, County home economics Grange leaders then discuss the value of county home economics conferences. At the afternoon session will be a demonstration on "A Sharp Edge Does the Job," by Miss Doris Conklin, home management specialist at the Pennsylvania State College. The program closes with a talk on "Ten Rooms in Your House of Life," by Marian Foster Smith, Butler county.

THE SONGS OF CHRISTMAS

Illustrated by Walt Scott

Shakespeare wrote, in "The Merchant of Venice":
"The man that hath no music in himself,
Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,
Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils."

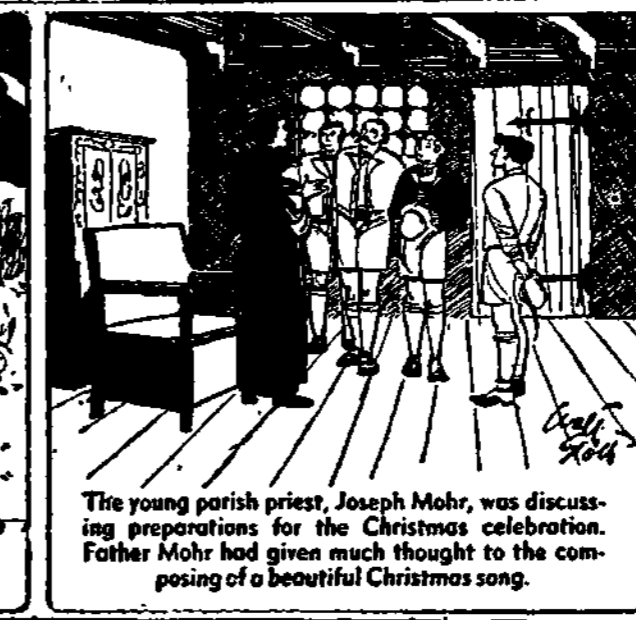

Song expresses the best in man's nature—his devotion, his praise, his happiness, his love. Of all the carols of joy and gladness, none is better known than "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen." No one knows who wrote it, or when. It goes back at least 300 years and is England's best loved carol.

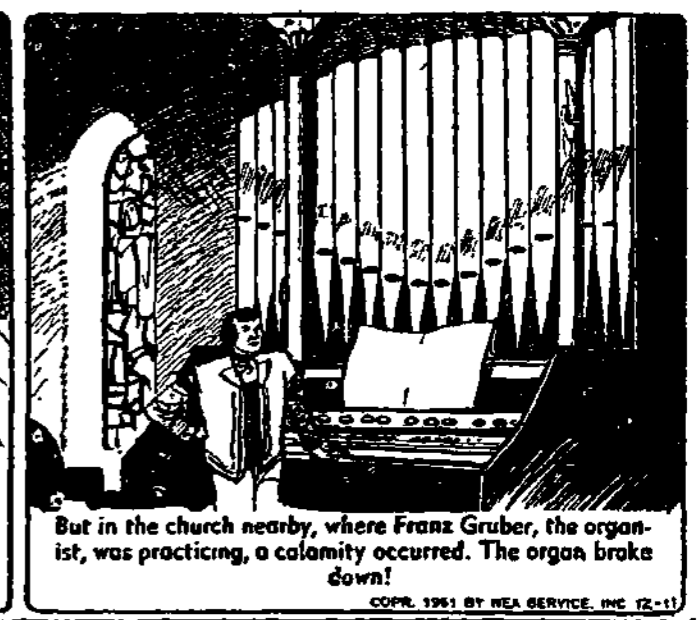

Another of the merry songs of Christmas is "Deck the Hall With Boughs of Holly." This dates back to the pre-Christian era in England and the midwinter festival called "Yule."

It was Christmas Eve, 1818, in the little village of Oberndorf, high up in the Austrian Alps.

The young parish priest, Joseph Mohr, was discussing preparations for the Christmas celebration. Father Mohr had given much thought to the composing of a beautiful Christmas song.

But in the church nearby, where Franz Gruber, the organist, was practicing, a calamity occurred. The organ broke down!

Franz Gruber, organist of Oberndorf, broke the sad news to Father Mohr that the organ had broken down on Christmas Eve. "We shall have music tomorrow anyway," said the priest.

He then agreed to write some verses of a Christmas song if Gruber would set them to simple music.

That evening a howling blizzard swept down from the Alpine peaks and there came a call for Father Mohr to go to a home where a boy baby had just been born.

TIME TO CLEAN HOUSE . . . OR ELSE

There is a time of decision for President Truman. With new revelations of scandal breaking forth almost daily, he has realized for some time that he can no longer shrug off reports of corruption and influence-peddling as "asinine." The only question now is whether the president intends to attack these evils full force or half-heartedly.

The signs so far add up to the half-hearted approach. To be sure, he has directed some sweeping ousters in the scandal-ridden Internal Revenue Bureau. But there is nothing to suggest that the measures adopted are complete or exhaustive.

There is still too much talk from Mr. Truman and other key administration officials of the "few rotten apples" in the barrel. They may in fact be right; corruption may not prove nearly so widespread as current disclosures hint. But the point is the president and his lieutenants are guessing. They do not know the state of their own household.

Mr. Truman's mood is no longer complacent, nor does he mock his critics. But his apparent course of action does not yet fit the gravity of the situation. He still seems much too willing to give himself and his administration the benefit of the doubt.

But the country wants the doubts resolved clearly and unmistakably. It is not satisfied to have learned the facts about T. Lamar Caudle, former assistant attorney general, consorter with influence peddlers, intimate of gamblers, dispenser of government favors and recipient of same from men in peril from federal authority. The nation wants to know how many more Caudles there may be in other crannies of government.

It wants to know how a Caudle could be tolerated by officials who claim to be intelligent, moral men. Caudle concedes he knew little of tax matters when placed in charge of them by Mr. Justice Clark, then attorney general. This ignorance evidently was no handicap, in Clark's judgment. Nor have Caudle's questionable qualifications and his strange intra-mural doings caused Attorney General McGrath any particular anguish.

And what of Peyton Ford, Caudle's immediate superior in the Justice Department? He was so doubtful of Caudle's behavior in one tax case that he directed the prosecuting department lawyer to cease informing Caudle of his future plans in the litigation. The information was leaking back to the defendant regularly. Yet Ford thereafter remained silent and allowed Caudle to go his way unimpeded.

None of this suggests a vigilant administration, but rather one all too tolerant of lapses from moral grace. Surely Mr. Truman must soon appreciate that he cannot restore confidence in the integrity of his regime by milk-toast reassurances of his intent to toss out the "few rotten apples."

President Coolidge enabled the Republican party of the mid-1920's to surmount the Teapot Dome scandals because he vigorously plunged into the task of cleaning house. He named a strong non-partisan commission to go over the administration from top to bottom.

Mr. Truman may find himself grossly in error if he believes he can get by with lesser measures. If he fails to order the thorough airing the situation demands, the American voters may direct it themselves—on Nov. 4, 1952.

Deserved recognition of self-sacrificing service in public office by well known Warren citizens was expressed at both the borough council and Warren School Board meetings last evening, when representatives with long and faithful records reached the ends of terms that marked retirements from official duties to again sit along the sidelines. These gentlemen who now terminate their work as servants of the community are the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge and Neil D. Paterson, members of the board of school directors, and the following councilmen: R. J. Wilson, first ward; R. H. Trusler, second; E. W. Patchen, third; C. A. Maier, fourth; G. H. Klinefelter, sixth; S. E. Kuhre, seventh, and C. A. Miller, eighth. The community of Warren indeed owes these gentlemen a real debt of gratitude.

Some enterprising newspaper or agency will have him interviewed. An alert radio or TV broadcasting network will get him on the air before the year is out. Maybe one of the slick magazines will do a flattering piece about him. Who is he? Why, he's the man who went to Europe in 1951 and didn't talk to General Eisenhower.

Here And There

An interesting account of the first annual banquet of the Warren County Medical Society, which was held in connection with a meeting at the Warren State Hospital at North Warren, is taken from The Evening Times of fifty years ago today, December 11, 1901. It says:

The Warren Medical Society met at the State Hospital at North Warren Tuesday evening. Two papers, "Chronic Nasal Catarrh and Its Treatment" by Dr. M. V. Ball, and "Haematology," by Dr. Robertson, proved to be most interesting to all who attended. Dr. Blanche Best, of the State Hospital, was received as a member.

The regular meeting was followed by the first annual banquet. The repast was served in the charming private apartments of Dr. and Mrs. Morris Guth.

The tables were decorated with palms; on the table was a charming centerpiece of geraniums, while from this extending both ways was a string of geraniums and smilax.

Two guests were present, Dr. W. D. Hamaker, of Meadville, and Dr. C. Ward, of Oil City. The menu was as follows: Oysters on the half shell, consommé, toast fingers, baked muskallonge, olive sauce, duchess potatoes, chicken and mushroom patties, celery tips, roast turkey, giblet sauce, sweet potato croquettes, asparagus toast, squash, pineapple pickle, hot rolls, brown bread, butter balls, cherry ice, fresh shrimp salad, cheese wafers, charlotte russe, fruit, salted almonds, coffee.

The toasts under the mastership of Dr. M. V. Ball were handled in an interesting manner. They were as follows: Remarks by the president, James Gass; Reminiscences, W. V. Hazeltine; Our state society, W. D. Hamaker; The country doctor, J. J. Knapp; The recent graduate, E. W. Guldorf; The Doctor's vacation, R. E. Stewart; The Institution doctor, M. S. Guth; Our local society, J. R. Durham; The future, W. M. Robertson.

Ike Hasn't Taken Nomination, But His Cabinet Is Shaping Up

BY DOUGLAS LARSE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—(NEA)—In spite of the fact that nobody is really sure that General Eisenhower is going to be a candidate for the presidency in 1952 rumors have already begun to float around town about who will make up his cabinet if he's elected.

Most novel story is that radio and TV funny man Arthur Godfrey is in line for becoming Secretary of the Navy, or at least wants the job very bad and thinks he has a chance for it. Godfrey is in the naval reserve and has a lot of contacts in that service. He is also a good friend of General Ike and visited him in Europe recently.

What's more, Godfrey has taken a sudden interest in politics. High officials in the Navy who tell the story say that at least Godfrey would bring some humor to the rather dull Pentagon.

ALTHOUGH the new American Legion National Commander Donald A. Wilson is said to be one of the best public speakers to ever head the Legion, he is going to cut down on the amount of traveling and speaking which recent commanders have done.

Probably his biggest worry is declining Legion membership. It has fallen from a post-war high of 3,300,000 to the current officially announced figure of 2,700,000, which is considered exaggerated because of the method of reporting membership by individual posts.

This membership decline, among other things is causing the Legion major budget problems. Wilson hopes to do some economizing of the Legion's functions, as well as try to find some way to spark membership.

Lack of funds is the biggest reason why the Legion gave up its Tide of Toys program for European kids. Last year it cost the national organization $130,000.

Relations between the Post Office and a union representing letter carriers has reached a new low. Seldom has the language of a top government official against the head of a union become as vitriolic as the recent words of Walter Myers, Asst. Postmaster General. Speaking to a group of district postmasters he said:

"The elected head of an employees' union has become afflicted with a combination of diseases—a bad spleen, St. Vitus dance of the tongue and dementia anti-Donaldson."

"Because he fancies himself a worm that can sing about a river and its mud, he tries to put on a concert with each slightest excuse. He brings the department into disrepute by abusing the Postmaster General and setting up his own two by four ideas as policies."

BIGGEST reason why the Republican and Democratic conventions were switched in Chicago from the Stadium, where they have been held before, to the International Amphitheater at the stockyards was to give more room for better television coverage of the events.

The Democratic and Republican national committees were happy to go along with the change because TV is going to be such a vital factor in the campaign.

And the networks were happy to be able to give the conventions the full TV treatment because they remember that it was the televising of the conventions in Philadelphia in 1948 that gave the new medium of communication one of its biggest boosts.

It is estimated that 400,000 square feet of space is needed off the convention floor for all of TV's special needs. The Stadium didn't have this much extra room.

Movie studios will be set up to film special features for distribution to local television stations. Much of the convention proceedings will be filmed for later TV showing, which requires large processing labs. And the maintenance and operating crews needed for television broad-

zable Group of Forecasters Already talking Necks Out as to What's Ahead

New York (AP)—The prediction season is off to an early start. Already a sizable group of forecasters have stuck out their heads as to what's ahead in 1952. The tackle business conditions in general. Some stick to their own theories.

In noting these predictions, you must remember that there was unusually high proportion of guesses when the seers took pre-view of 1951. Better luck this time, fellows.

Here are some of the early ones—and this doesn't imply they are the ones who were wrong last time. Most of them think 1952 will be pretty fair in general.

A fairly strong business situation in 1951 with an uneasy balance achieved in the price structure—industrial production increasing five to 10 per cent—the cost of living index not rising as much as five per cent—this on the word of Roger F. Murray, president of the Bankers Trust Co. of New York.

"The level of general business activity will be three to five per cent higher in 1952"—Martin R. Gainsburgh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board.

"The first half of 1952 will see a petering out of the forces of inflation which have pressed our economy over the last five years"—Dr. Edwin B. George, economist of Dunn & Bradstreet.

"Business profits may have their worst slump for the remainder of this year and in 1952—dividends should continue at a satisfactory rate"—Bache & Co., brokerage firm.

"Retailers can look forward to increased sales during the first six months of 1952—a definite opportunity for retailers to better the six-tenths of one per cent profit result of the first half of 1951"—George Hansen, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

"Another good year for the home building industry in 1952—but if material and labor shortages develop, building may drop 15 to 20 per cent from 1951 levels"—Arthur M. Weimer, economist of the U. S. Savings and Loan League.

"A higher percentage of new houses likely will be built in lower price ranges next year because of changes in federal credit rules"—William E. Taylor, president of the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association.

"Although certain to be high, capital expenditures in 1952 may not equal the record level now indicated for this year, owing to shortages of essential building materials, especially structural steel"—D. W. Michener, director of research, Chase National Bank, New York.

"The trend in private capital expenditures next year will be down, but it will still be above the line which can be justified on the basis of the present condition of our economy"—W. C. Mullendore, president, Southern California Edison Co.

"Auto makers feel that the potential demand is greater than they will be able to fill under the annual rate of output of four million cars set for the first quarter of 1952"—William J. Cronin, general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

FIRST AID for Everybody

VII--Treatment of Wounds

(This is another of a series of articles, written especially for Central Press Association and this newspaper on first aid, a subject gripping the nation in the light of threatened atomic aggression. The articles are based on the American Red Cross First Aid course. First aid principles, applicable to atomic as well as other disasters, are outlined. The Red Cross offers a 28-hour course free which teaches fully the technique of first aid.)

By Central Press

THERE ARE four types of wounds—abrasions, incised wounds, lacerations or torn wounds, and puncture wounds. Abrasions are made by scraping off the skin, incised wounds by a sharp cutting instrument. A torn wound can be made by an exploding shell or a fall against an angular object, and a puncture by a bullet, stab or nail.

All wounds are subject to two dangers—infection and serious bleeding or hemorrhage. The danger of infection is present in every case. The bleeding may be relatively slight or severe. Shock is present in all cases of serious bleeding.

In cases of bomb damage or similar catastrophes, the first aider must be prepared to deal with numerous wounds, minor as well as severe. Extensive bruises, inflicted with great force, will be suffered, and lacerations, though usually superficial, may be deep and cause hemorrhage or shock.

THE SIZE of the wound may be misleading. For instance, a small wound may extend through the abdominal wall or a penetrating object may enter the chest cavity. Numerous tiny glass particles may be imbedded under the skin and clothing may give little protection to the victim. In many cases the wounds may be multiple. Therefore, as close an examination as possible is required.

VIII--Transportation of Victims

DON'T DO THIS

DO THIS

By Central Press

AFTER GIVING the necessary first aid, the next extremely important step in assisting the victims of any sort of disaster is proper transportation.

The type of transportation to be used will depend on the injury, the necessity of immediate removal possible in an atomic disaster, and the transportation available. There are simple rules to be applied in given cases although in some instances—wall collapse or fire—the first aider must use his own judgment.

But keep in mind that the way you move or transport a patient should be such that it does not cause further injury or sickness.

The Red Cross textbook condemns strongly the practice of "jack-knifing" a seriously injured person into the back seat of an automobile and driving fast to a hospital. It is pointed out that the front seat can often be folded forward and by using boxes, pillows or boards laid from front to rear, a sort of bed can be made on the right side of the car.

FOR A SERIOUSLY INJURED person, a stretcher is best. To get a patient on a stretcher and carry it requires a minimum of three strong people. So, again the first aider must use his judgment, particularly if there are a large number of injured persons. To get a man away from a falling wall, it might be necessary to drag him on a blanket or a coat.

If a stretcher is used, it should be placed close to the victim in a straight line with his body. The patient lies on his back, feet tied, unless in unusual cases the injuries require some other position.

Three bearers take a position on one side of the patient, the fourth on the opposite side. One is at the shoulders, one at the hips and one at the knees. The fourth is at the hips on the opposite side.

The three bearers on one side lift at a signal and put the patient on their knees. The fourth places the stretcher under him and he is gently lowered. To carry the stretcher, the bearers stand one at each end and one at each side.

You may improvise stretchers from blankets and poles, from properly rolled blankets, from boards fastened together, or from a wide board, door, screen or ladder covered with cushions.

If a blanket stretcher is used, first place the blanket beside the patient and tuck two-thirds of it close to the body. Grasping the patient by the shoulders and hips, roll him gently about one-eighth turn away from the blanket. Push the tucked part under him, roll him back over the blanket and pull blanket through.

Things to always remember in transportation—keep broken bones from moving and continue to treat for shock.

Pennsylvania Jr. Vegetable Growers Win Three Awards in National Contest

PENNSYLVANIA junior vegetable growers were named winners of three awards in the 1951 production-marketing contest of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association as the NJVGA concluded its seventeenth annual four-day convention at Cleveland, O., today.

State honors went to Patrick Dumm, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dumm, Ebensburg; Glenn E. Walker, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Walker, Friedens, and Edward J. Randall, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Randall, Ebensburg. Each received a cash prize from the $6,000 scholarship fund provided each year by A & P Food Stores as part of its nationwide program to encourage better production and marketing of vegetables by farm youth.

Also announced by Owen S. Trask, Extension Horticulturist, University of Connecticut, Storrs, and Northeastern Regional Chairman, was the awarding of the national championship and the top $500 scholarship to Albert B. Bishop, 20-year-old grower of Guilford, Conn.

Patrick Dumm proved his production-marketing skill by showing a net profit of $217 on a half-acre NJVGA garden. His vegetable tables won a reputation for high general quality all along the house-to-house route he developed.

Patrick, a high school graduate this year, was active in Future Farmers of America programs and sang in his school's mixed chorus. He also won a prize in the 1950 NJVGA competition and matched the honor with ribbons from the Pennsylvania State and Cambria County fairs.

O. R. Sherman, Ebensburg, a Cambria County farm youth leader, describes Patrick as "an excellent citizen" and a leader in young farmer activities.

Glenn E. Walker has been chairman of his county FFA group and is now circulation manager of his high school yearbook staff. A musician, he has been a member of the FFA band, all-county band, the all-county chorus and the Pennsylvania State chorus. His four-acre garden project, in which he raised nearly 20 tons of beets, netted him $201. He sold his harvest to a local canning concern.

In addition to gardening, Glenn maintained a broiler project during 1950-51 and helped his father farm their 215-acre Somerset County place. His beets were given a first prize at the Shanksville-Stony Creek Community Fair.

Holiday in Mexico Is WSCS Program

Mrs. Leroy Hammerbeck conducted the business session and Mrs. Norman Johnson was in charge of devotions for the December meeting of WSCS members of Grace Methodist church, held in the church dining room. Routine reports were given by the various officers and circle chairmen.

Prior to this Christmas recitations were given by Judy Hammerbeck and Marjorie Rader. Nancy Reynolds announced the characters in the play, with 27 members of the junior choir taking part in the presentation of how our Mexican friends celebrate the Christmas season, starting there on December 16. They showed how friends and neighbors visit the various homes, where those present join in singing traditional Christmas music and join in games.

Much credit for the success of this very interesting little play is due to Mrs. Paul Reynolds. Mrs. Ervin Rader. Mrs. Henry Wyman, Mrs. Florence Anderson and Mrs. Edwin Jack, the choir director.

A social hour followed, with refreshments served by members of the Verr Zeliff Circle, with Mrs. Edna Kyler as chairman.

Girls' Club Christmas Program and Party for Mothers Very Successful

The YWCA activities building was the scene of a very pleasant Christmas Monday evening, when mothers, daughters, leaders and guests assembled for the annual Christmas program and party of the High School Girls Club.

Opening the program was a welcome read by Sally Reed, followed by all singing two familiar songs. For devotions, Beverly Chapman read the Christmas story from the Bible, Dawn Taft read a devotional story, and Carol Hughes led in prayer.

The choir, led by Jane Sanford and accompanied by Marian Whipper, entertained with two songs: "Nightingale Awake," and "Come Elisabeth."

A quartet, Carol Douglas, Patsy Yeager, Carol Brett and Stavroula Fanos, sang "Soliloquy," the Red-Nosed Reindeer.

Next on the program was a play show, with Carol Somers and Gladys Hengst in charge. The stage was decorated to represent Santa's Workshop with Santa busy at work. Santa, played by Nan Therington, came bounding down the aisle to the tune of "Jingle Bells" and introduced the play show with a very clever script. The models, wearing Betty's clothes, were Carol Powley, Joanne Gagey, Julie Kerolis, Karen Kinney, Gretchen Sumaker, Elaine M. D. A.ugh, Nicole Paris, Shirley Brown.

A play, "Where's Your Christmas Spirit?" was next, with Phoebe Jewell playing the part of a nervous housemaid; Patty Roman, the cook, and Susan Brown, their disagreeable mistress. Other girls taking part in the play were Arlene Shepard, Mary Lou Henderson, Sally Kinch and Margaret Scallie. The second play was, "The Case of the Strange Baby," with the following girls taking part: Lee Knapp, Margaret Scallie, Marilyn Vealing, Patti Giannotti, Cathy Schneider, Sally Kinch, Mary Elliott and Joie Hensley. The leaders of the dramatic group, Charlotte Smith and Joan Laufer, directed both plays.

A report on the various projects done by the service group this semester was given by Betty Eggleston. This group is led by Helen Pettit and Dortha Leslie and some of their projects were hemming sheets for the Children's Home, collecting candy bars to send overseas, sponsoring of World Fellowship dance, making tickets for basketball dances, and a Christmas party for Patty Arnold.

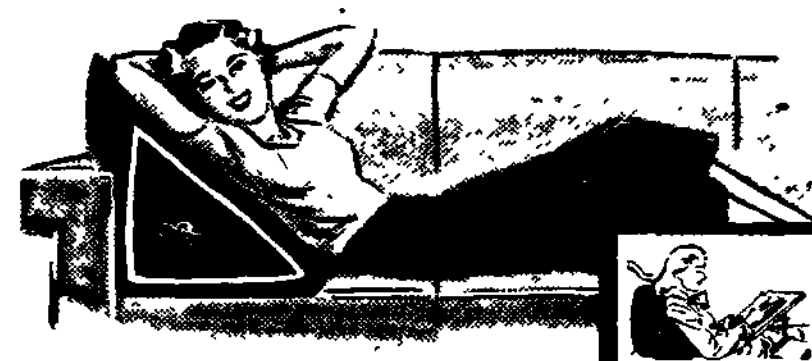

The president of the club, Sally Reed, introduced the remaining interested group leaders and thanked them for all their help on Monday nights this past semester. The group leaders not already mentioned are: Crafts: Fae Christiansen; knitting: Ruby Babcock; party cooking: Ruth Harris; dancing: Carol Wade, Marge Beck.

Only Her Husband Can Help Unhappy Middle-Aged Wife

IT is a fairly well-established fact that the middle-aged American housewife is often frustrated and unhappy. Everybody has a remedy for her, too. The cosmetic ads try to beguile her into thinking if she uses this cream or that beauty soap she will look like the beautiful young model who dresses up the printed advertisement.

The women's magazines and soap operas offer her escape into foolish stories about women her age who have men fighting for their love.

The advice-givers tell her how important it is for her to hold onto her husband. The smart-alecks tell her there is nothing wrong with her that doing her washing on a scrubbing board wouldn't cure.

Nobody bothers to talk to the only person in the world who can help the middle-aged housewife feel important, necessary, successful and cherished.

HE CAN HELP BUT DOESN'T KNOW IT

AND that, of course, is her middle-aged husband. He ought not to have to be told. For after all, he is feeling a bit frustrated, too, with his hair-line receding, his waistline increasing, and bright young men having more and more say in the office.

But usually he doesn't realize that he and his wife are both facing a period when they need each other's encouragement and support as much as they ever needed it in their young married days. So he decides his wife's unhappiness is all nonsense, refuses to let her talk her problems out and tries to build up his own faltering ego with making more money, getting away for more frequent hunting trips with the boys, or turning into a middle-aged Romeo.

Nobody points this out to the middle-aged husband who is the only person who can help his unhappy wife find herself. If somebody only would, what a different story it might be.

Following the program, cookies and punch were served in the private dining room from a table beautifully decorated with pine cones, greens and a large white candle.

The gym was decorated by Ruth Whitmore and Joan White with red and green streamers, a tree and posters wishing "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Members of the High School Girls' Club want to thank each and everyone who helped make this program a success, including leaders, Betty Lee for use of clothes, and girls who donated cookies for the party.

Club Enjoys Address On English Literature

At the Christmas luncheon-meeting of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club, held yesterday, Dr. John Wendell emphasized the important part of English literature played in shaping the thoughts of man today.

That portion of literature that has passed down to us consists of riddles, religious poems and heroic verse, and are theoretical doctrines in the form of their 7th and 8th century conventional practices. Dr. Wendell emphasized Beowulf, its style, manner and content, and reiterated that this great Christian heroic epic was foremost among the highly sophisticated and dignified poetry of that era.

Mrs. Carl Whipple, of the public affairs committee, presented a most interesting paper on the Christmas celebration at Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. Frederick Beardsley, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced the New Year's Day Tea Dance is open to the public, as usual, and all were urged to procure their tickets before the limited supply is exhausted.

BAPTIST MOTHERS

Members of the First Baptist Mothers Club will hold their annual Christmas party for their children from 10:00 a. m. until 12:00 noon Saturday, each one to bring a 25-cent gift for her own child. Each member is also reminded to bring articles for the missionary work or clothing for a needy family.

STARBRICK PTA

Students of the Starbrick school will present the program for the regular PTA meeting at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday. During the business session, there will be elections to fill the office of secretary and vice president. Concluding the evening refreshments will be served to the pupils.

SUNSHINE CLUB

Lander Sunshine Club members will hold their annual Christmas party at 12:30 p. m. Thursday in the community house, with a turkey dinner and exchange of 25-cent gifts. Those who bring children are reminded to bring their gifts, also.

WIN ONE CLASS

The Win One Class of First Evangelical United Brethren church will hold a Christmas turkey dinner at the church at 6:00 p. m. Thursday. A large turnout is hoped for, each one to bring a turkey and a 50-cent gift for the grab bag.

LITTLE BACH SOCIETY

Little Bach Society members will hold their Christmas program-meeting at the Woman's Club after school Wednesday, with Andrea Wright in charge of the program.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Mrs. Fred Dasen, 2 Averill street, has returned from Portland Ore., where she has been spending the past six weeks. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Leah Johnson, who will be her guest for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil E. Meacham and daughter Elizabeth have returned to their home in Baltimore, Md., after spending the weekend with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Meacham, Crescent Park.

Farm Groups Endorse Christmas Seal Sale

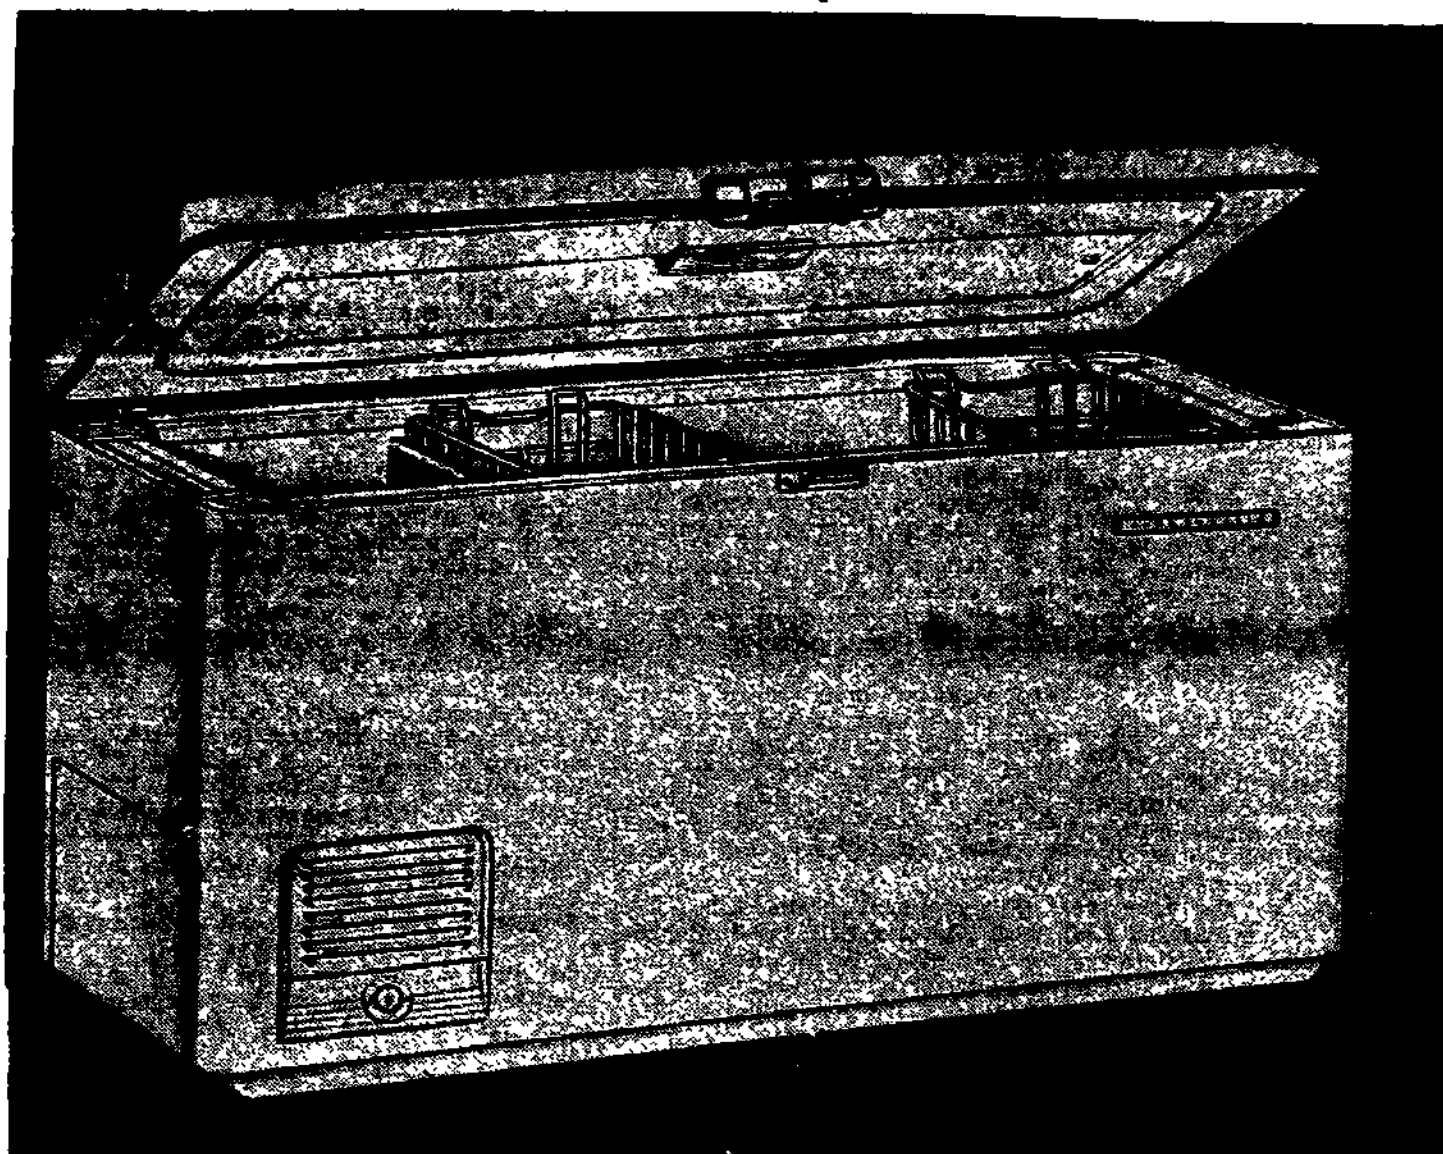

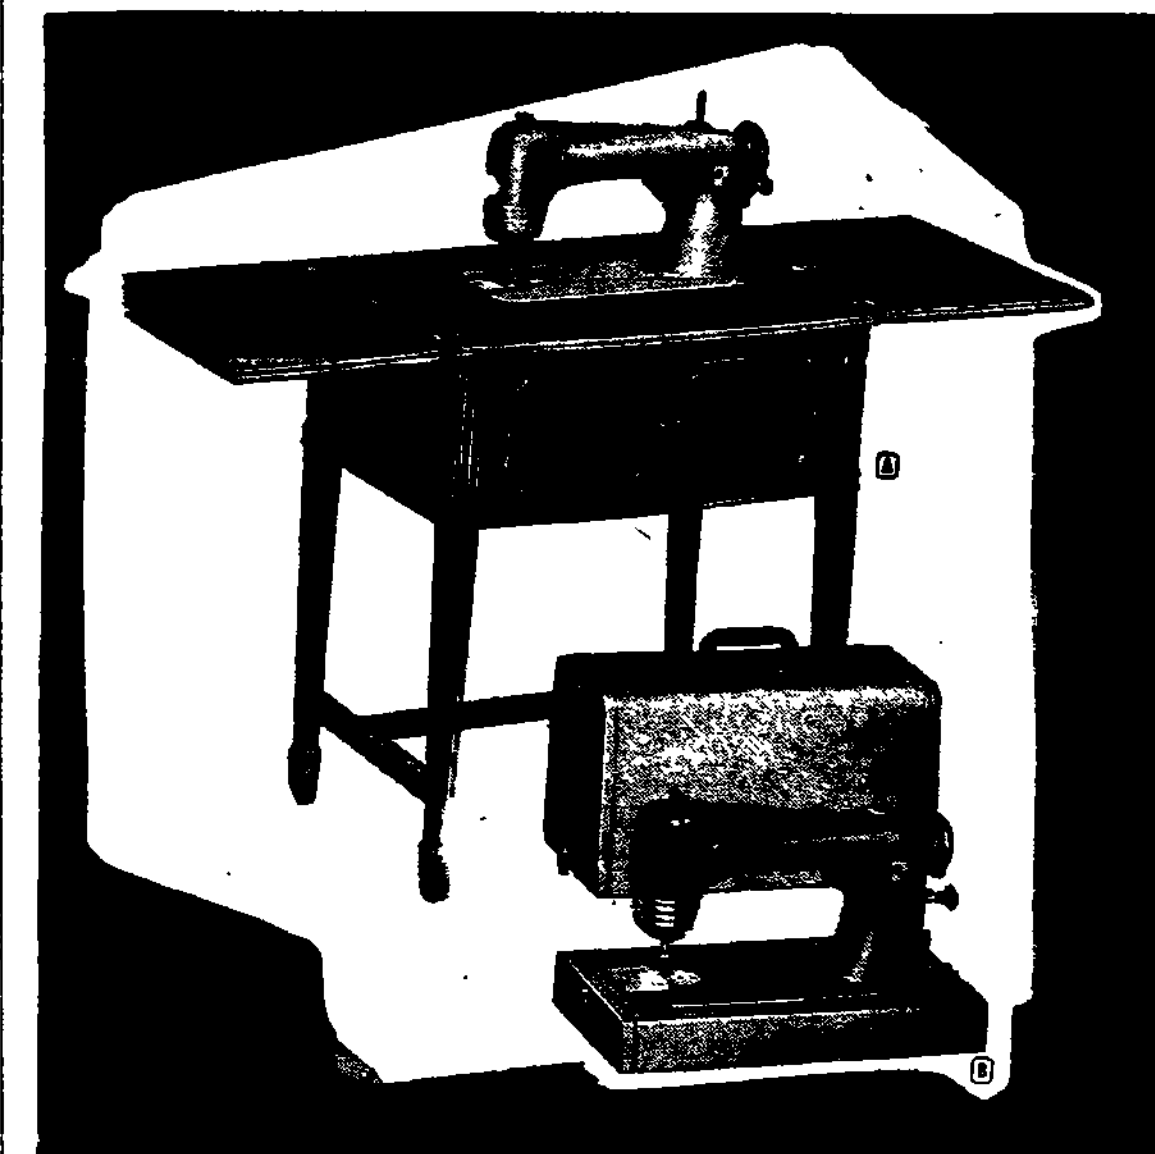

The Christmas Seal Sale has been heartily endorsed by the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation, and the National Farmer Union as follows:

Delos L. James, Director of Agriculture-Industry Relations, the National Grange: "We in the National Grange are firmly of the belief that the control of tuberculosis is a matter of concern to every citizen and that the purchase of Christmas Seals is one of the most effective ways of helping to control this dread disease."

Allan B. Kline, president, American Farm Bureau Federation: "The Christmas Seal Sale has become a symbol of the Christmas spirit to almost as great an extent as the Christmas tree itself. For more than forty years, revenues from this activity have helped mightily in the never-ending battle against one of the oldest and most terrible enemies of mankind, tuberculosis."

"Like the kind word and the good deed, Christmas Seals do more for the donor than they do for the beneficiary. As an individual, caught in the whirl of events that constitute modern living, you need an antidote for the distractions and the pressures that hem you in on all sides. You do well for 'your better self' if you buy generously when you buy Christmas Seals."

James G. Patton, president, National Farmers Union: "The great strides which have been made in stamping out tuberculosis are of inestimable value, not only to those persons who are arrested cases but to the health of the entire nation. Your Association is to be recommended highly for the Election Is Held By School Board In Pine Grove Twp.

Russell, Dec. 11—Holding their annual organization meeting at the local school building, directors of Pine Grove township school board reelected Jerold Angove as president, David Smith as vice president, and went on record as being interested in consolidation plans being worked out by the Warren board.

directors were present for the December session, with President Angove presiding. Mr. Smith was named temporary chairman for the swearing in of new directors: Benton Bairstow, reelected for four years; Howard Fox and Leonard Weston, named for six-year terms. Ralph Way and Vinton Finzer are the retiring directors.

After they had taken their oath, the election of officers was held. The president appointed William Goldsmith, principal, as a committee of one to see if teachers need another encyclopedia and report at the next meeting. It was voted to purchase a flag and the secretary was authorized to secure a copy of Roberts' Rules of Order. It was also voted to write letters to H. L. Blair, county superintendent, and Dr. Carl Whipple, Warren superintendent, concerning the consolidation.

It was suggested a complete census of all pre-school children be taken, with Mr. Bairstow and the secretary, Mrs. Hallie Holt, appointed to send a questionnaire to each family having pre-school children. These are to be returned to the secretary for the tally.

Adjournment was taken until January 8.

Warren Student On Edge 'Who's Who'

Other Warren boy making a name for himself on the college scene these days is Nick Gannon, who was recently listed in eleven Gannon College students in the annual "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Gannon Nick is a member of the Natural Science Department, secretary of student council, and belongs to the International Relations Club, the Intercollegiate Conference on Government, of which he is district chairman, Catholic Student Action and the Science Club. He holds past memberships to the ROTC Basic Club, ROTC Drill team and won two letters on the ROTC rifle team. In 1952 he was awarded the VFW Outstanding Basic Cadet plaque.

In addition to his studies Nick is working part time as many students are these days. He is employed as a laboratory technician in the research Department of the Erie Resistor Corp.

"Drive Carefully" Warning Is the Most Urgent in December

Harrisburg—Drive carefully in December!

"At no time of year is the admonition 'Drive Carefully' so urgent as in December," T. Elmer Transeau, Director of Highway Safety, said today.

"Automobile accidents will break up an unpredictable number of family circles this month, simply because some drivers will forget ordinary rules of courtesy and winter precautions," he declared.

"Cheery as holidays are made around holidays, they can't take the place of home. We therefore, ask all motorists to give extra care to the view from their windshields to be spared the view from a hospital accident ward."

Hazards reach their highest peak in December, the state official warned.

Visibility is at its worst just at a time when holiday events call for considerable driving," he said. "Public transportation will be used heavily by Christmas shoppers day and night. Trucks will be busy with city and intercity shipments and deliveries. Parties will mean heavier late-hour traffic. Weather conditions will vary from mild to blizzard."

Transeau emphasized that "traction will be poor for motor vehicles and pedestrians as streets and highways become covered with snow and ice."

"Drivers who want to make sure they'll be home for Christmas should give adequate attention to the condition of their cars," he said.

"Lights, brakes, windshield wiper blades and defrosters should be checked periodically to forestall any failures. Tire chains should be kept in the car for use when needed, for they cut in half the distance for stopping on snow and ice, and they are often vital for adequate 'go' traction. Tests have proved that so-called 'winterized' tires simply will not do the job and chainless vehicles cause traffic tie-ups. This is particularly true with return of synthetic 'cold' rubber tires, which skid and spin more on snow or ice, even though they do wear better than natural rubber."

"Everybody reads the Times-Mirror."

SHORTER COOKING TIME SAVES GAS, TOO. GAS is really fast—instant heat always!

YOU'VE NEVER HAD SUCH LEISURE as you'll have with a new automatic GAS range. Imagine putting your whole dinner in the oven early, and then taking the afternoon off! You can do just that—as often as you like.

EVEN COOKING ON THE TOP BURNERS SAVES YOU WORK, TOO. You can adjust the flame to such a fine point, that you needn't be jumping up every so often to turn it down or up in order to cook foods properly.

AND WHEN IT COMES TO CLEANING YOUR RANGE, you're really in luck. A damp cloth takes away most dirt, and if food has been "baked on," the shiny, smooth surface is easily scoured with a little powder.

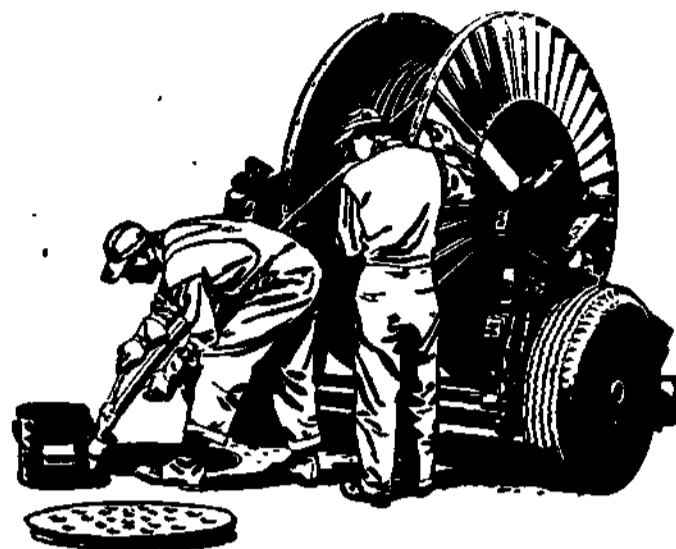

Savings alone suggest it's time for a new model. But you should SEE these beautiful GAS ranges... a choice of burner arrangement... even placement... broilers that don't smoke... oven lights... glass oven doors... and many, many other features to make cooking a joy for you.

THE RECORD SHOWS More and Better Telephone Service IN WARREN

$855,000 for expansion

Since 1946, in Warren alone, the Telephone Company has spent $855,000 on new equipment and facilities to bring more and better telephone service to the people of this community. And to keep pace with the rapid growth of the Warren area, we must continue to add still more and more telephone equipment and facilities!

$117,000 for Local Purchases

Year in and year out, Bell Telephone spends thousands and thousands of dollars with local concerns for telephone equipment and for painting, building repairs, gasoline, water, gas, power and light, blueprinting, office supplies, window washing and a host of other items. This year, in Warren, we'll spend about $117,000... a sizable order for Warren business.

SAFETY—First and Last! Telephone men and women, following well established safety practices, contribute substantially to the community's well-being. One example: the outstanding safety record of the drivers of the 35 cars and trucks used to keep telephone service at peak efficiency in Warren and vicinity.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

$562,000 PAYROLL

Our payroll in Warren has more than doubled in the last ten years. Now we pay $562,000 in wages annually to local men and women. Most of this money is spent right here in Warren... another big aid to local business.

Moreover, in almost every type of civic activity, you'll find telephone people lending a hand. Traditionally, they're "good citizens."

37,700 TELEPHONE CALLS A DAY

Ten years ago, people in Warren made about 24,000 local calls daily; now the figure is 36,000. In the same period of time, the number of out-of-town calls they made jumped from an average of 600 a day to some 1,700... nearly three times as many!

3,800 NEW TELEPHONES

Ten years ago there were 3,000 telephones in Warren. Today there are more than 8,800. And we'll continue to add still more and more new telephones to meet the growing demand for service, as fast as supplies and manpower permit.

Great as are the strides we've made in the past six years, our job in Warren is far from finished. Keeping pace with the ever-growing need for telephone service... in Warren and elsewhere in Pennsylvania... is a tremendous and continuing project. In addition, the nation's defense program has created new demands.

Expansion costs money. Big money. More all the time—because our dollars, like your dollars, buy far less today than they did just a few years ago.

Yet we cannot slacken our pace. Our job is to provide you with good telephone service at reasonable cost. You have a right to expect it. And you're going to keep on getting it.

Written for NEA Service
Johnny Crawford is a hard man to shut out of the bidding. In the hand shown today Crawford held the South cards. When the opponents indicated their readiness to play the hand at two hearts, Johnny refused to sell out. His bid of three clubs is shown as an example of enterprise, not as a model to be followed.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and East took the ace. East returned the six of diamonds, and Crawford won with the king. He had already lost a diamond trick and it looked as though he would have to lose a spade, a couple of hearts, and one or two trump tricks.

At the third trick, Crawford led a spade. West put up the ace and led the ten of diamonds, hoping that his partner could ruff. As it happened, East had the queen of diamonds, and it was declarer who ruffed.

Crawford now led his remaining spade and finessed dummy's ten. This strange finesse was necessary to make sure of an eventual heart discard. When he led the king of spades from the dummy, East ruf-

GETTING A GANDER—Tiny Candy Crane, three, is taking a peek inside the jaws of a ten-foot, eight-inch stuffed alligator in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to make sure it isn't stuffed with little girls. The 'gator will soon be part of a window display in Rockefeller Center in New York.

CURE SERVICE—Unaffected by its artistic adornments, a caddy's horse drinks from a public trough in Rome, Italy. Such fountains were erected in the 17th and 18th Centuries, under the reigning Popes, to allow the noises of wealthy families to refresh themselves enroute to and from the Vatican. Europeans have always shown great consideration for their animals.

PART OF $1,000,000 — Model Phyllis Young showed up at the Million Dollar Fashion Show in Boston with a rare Weimaraner German hunting dog which wore a pink fox stole, and a miniature poodle with a triple pearl collar. Gowns, furs and jewels at the show were worth $1,000,000.

BRAND NEW FAMILY—Upon their arrival in New York, Mr. and Mrs. James Myers play a game with their two adopted children, Dirk and Kathleen, on the deck of the S.S. Constitution. The youngsters, adopted in Dublin, Ireland, are both 21 months old with exactly the same birthday, but born of two different mothers. Their new father has been working in Paris.

WHERE HELP IS NEEDED—Spectator's crowd around a specially-equipped blood-donor railway car named the "Life Line" during a dedication ceremony in San Francisco. The car will operate throughout the West Coast and will be staffed by members of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank. It will collect blood for the armed forces as well as for civilians.

BARGAIN HEAVEN—Store owner Ed Coultrap has an unusual sign, top photo, that jams in the customers. The sandwich counter, center, is always lined with purchasers who appreciate that five-cent price. In addition, bacon sells at 39 cents a pound, auto tires and batteries at $1 above cost, and customers mill around the many counters, below, seeking and finding bargains.

NO OPTICAL ILLUSION—A herd of elephants is here disembarking from a train on a British Railway at Harwich, England. These bulky passengers require freight cars with doorways built to measure and, although it's a tight fit, they manage to get in and out with ease.

HEADED FOR THE SEA—This view of the giant bow of the Flandre, France's biggest postwar ocean liner, vaguely resembles a circus clown with a big nose. Launched at Dunkerque where she was built with the aid of Marshall Plan funds, the 20,300-ton vessel will link Le Havre with the East Indies ports, and will do her water traveling at a minimum speed of 23 knots.

IN GANDHI'S FOOTSTEPS—Acharya Vinoba Bhave, 57, Hindu evangelist in New Delhi, India, eats a frugal meal in his headquarters adjacent to the shrine where Mahatma Gandhi's body was cremated. Since the assassination of the Indian religious leader, Mr. Bhave, a disciple, has carried on his work. In a walking tour of Communist-infested areas, the evangelist won thousands from communism which he denounced in Gandhi's name.

WELCOME CONSOLATION—Billy Mills, 10, of Mineral Point, Wis., holds the football that was sent to him by the University of Wisconsin team. Hospitalized in Rochester, Minn., the young Badger fan has undergone seven major kidney operations, and that prized football helps pass the long, lonely hours.

That picture of the so-called "unknown" baseball team drew much interest. Personal visits and telephone calls were numerous. Does any reader have a puzzle? He'd care to loan us, with safe return promised?

LOOP LEADERS HAVE A CLEAN SLATE SO FAR

With Bud Berdine pounding the rim for 26 points to lead the way, Warren Business School cagers rolled up their third straight win in the Y-City loop last night by crushing the Style Shop with an impressive 68-36 decision. The victory gave the Schoolboys second place in the standings with only one loss, and was the first setback of the season for the defending champs in three tries.

The league-leading Texas Lunch quintet racked up win number four in a 62-33 verdict over Youngville Wiggins in the second contest. It was the fourth defeat for the out-of-towners.

A 17-point period margin over the Style Shop helped put the Business School five on its way and there was no stopping. In the second stanza, the victors tallied 17 to 10 against the losers and 17 to nine in the last quarter. After intermission the Style Shop held the opponents to a 11-11 draw.

Berdine, whose scoring came on 11 FG's and four free throws, was followed by his brother Chuck with 11 counters, and Ray Ritchie with 10. Don Baldensperger and Dan Jackson paced the Style Shop with 14 and 10 respectively.

The Texan starting five shared scoring laurels in the second contest last night with Joe Scallie tallying 13, Vin Gray and Ed Lindberg 12 each, Bob Reese 11, and Bob Foley 10. Lefty Haight ripped the nets with six field goals to lead Youngville scoring with 12 points.

Pulling ahead 17-6 in the opening quarter, Texas Lunch kept pouring it on until the last eight minutes when Youngville took a 9-3 advantage.

Deputy Determines Sykes Committed Youngsville Thefts

Melvin Sykes, 37, arrested in Youngsville on October 23 as a parole violator and who later in the day escaped from Warren county jail, only to be picked up in New York state for a series of burglaries there, was yesterday proved to be the man who committed a series of entries in Youngsville when five business places were entered during the night.

Deputy Sheriff Sandy Secor and State Police Private Jack Krupay were in Little Valley yesterday where Sykes is being held in Cattaraugus county jail, questioning him in connection with the Youngsville jobs.

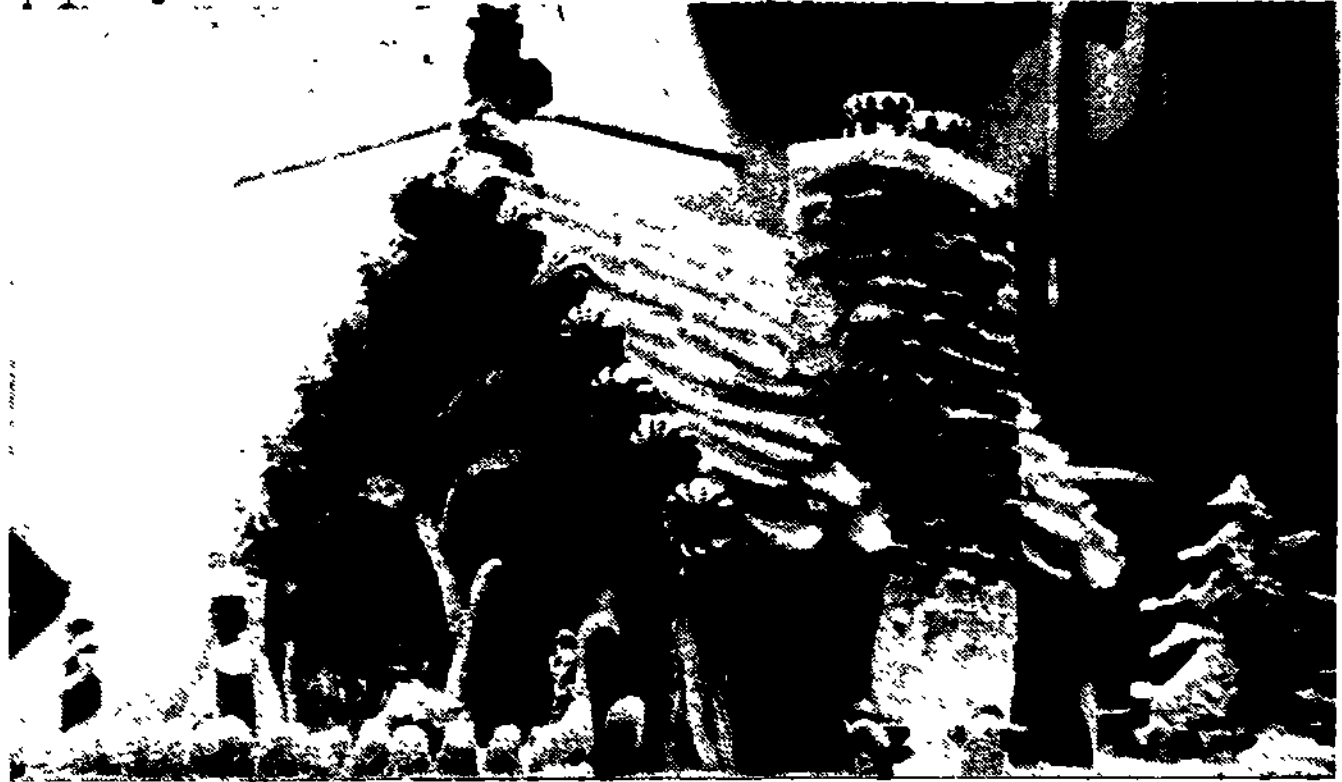

The officers recovered some of the loot taken from Mariner's Garage, Wigger's Chevrolet, Sinclair Service, Hendrickson's Service and grocery, and the Youngsville GLF.

An electric drill and table radio, taken from Wigger's, were in his possession at the time of his arrest, as well as a quantity of canned goods taken from Hendrickson's. At the Sinclair Service, in addition to change from the register, a wrist watch was stolen. Sykes told officers he had lost the watch, but the band was attached to his own watch.

It is not believed that extradition papers will be filed from here, although a detainer will probably be lodged against the time when Sykes is turned free in New York.

However, indications are that that will be several years in the future because of a series of thefts and burglaries in which he is implicated in New York, including a car theft and carrying of a loaded shotgun in the car when he was apprehended by Sheriff Morgan L. Sigel, Little Valley.

Hansels and Gretels of Warren Gaze At Helen's Fabled Gingerbread House

Right out of the age-old fairy tale could have stepped the little Hansel and the little Gretel who stood outside the Second avenue windows at the Metzger-Wright store, last evening, gazing wistfully at the gingerbread house displayed therein.

If their actions are to be duplicated by other youngsters, then the Metzger-Wright window will soon be completely covered with little noseprints!

The gingerbread house, colorful and a thing of beauty, resembles a catalogue picture of a comfortable little bungalow. But, contrary to the catalogue reproductions of contractors and lumber dealers, this little house is entirely edible!

The gingerbread house was made by Warren's famous authority on good food, Helen Pendleton Rockwell, whose well known book, "Here's How," has become internationally famous. The house itself is made of ginger cookie dough, supported by heavy cardboard, with the dough pasted to the cardboard with frosting. The glittering chimney is of sugar lumps, held together by green frosting. The roof is made of lime slices and gum drops, the trees of cookies, cinnamon candies and gum drops were used in making the flowers which abound outside the house.

Mrs. Rockwell's 10:30 a. m. program over Station WNAE, "Fun With Food," has won listeners throughout the area.

The traditional gingerbread house has won many admirers, and even adults wish they might peer inside and see Hansel, freed from his "fattening cage," pushing the fabled witch into the oven in his stead, as Gretel claps her hands and prepares to join him in their escape. Others say they would like to break off a piece of the house and sample it as did Hansel and Gretel when they came upon the gingerbread house in the great forest.

Christmas Party, Square Dance For Foremen and Ladies

With an attendance of 164, the Foremen's Club held its Christmas party at the YMCA, Monday night, with the ladies as guests. Gathering at the Youth Canteen in advance of the dinner hour, the Foremen and the ladies then proceeded to the "Y" dining rooms where a Christmas banquet was served at tables appropriately decorated in a holiday motif. Each lady found a corsage at her place, a gift of the club.

The invocation was given by Dan Walton, YMCA general secretary and executive secretary of the club, and the president of the club, Carl Jones, presided. Community singing was led by Chris Pepke, chairman of the program committee, with Lynn Keller at the piano.

After enjoying the banquet, the assembly adjourned to the Youth Canteen where a fine program was presented, including the following: Carolyn Marks, piano solo; Marilyn Ristau, accordion solo; Catherine Streich and Marjorie Nicholson, baton twirling act, with the two dressed in their cheer leader costumes; Susan Lawson, vocal solo, accompanied by Mary Konestoba; duet, Mary Konestoba and James O'Donald; and accordion solo of Mary Konestoba. Wade Barre acted as master of ceremonies.

After the program, square dancing was enjoyed to the music of Alfred Anderson's orchestra.

City Dads Discuss Ways and Means

borough's accounting system, enabling a more efficient operation, and was granted permission to confer with the borough treasurer and a certified public accountant to ascertain the cost of a monthly audit as suggested by the treasurer.

S. H. Rasmussen, chairman of the new construction and new projects committee, reported a total of $292,810.36 spent for new streets, bridge repairs, traffic lights, fire truck, Liberty street sanitary sewer, Morrison street storm sewer, Redwood street storm sewer, Brook street storm sewer, and McPherson street storm sewer. The money for this came from the $220,000 bond issue, a loan of $56,539.02 from the general fund, $20,000 from the permanent street fund, and $1,089.00 from the bond retirement fund, with $4,817.67 cash on hand. He said that $72,810.36 more was spent than the amount of bonds issued, this to be balanced approximately by street assessments against property owners. He was pessimistic about the possibility of any additional paving being attempted because of the lack of funds.

In answer to Councilman M. R. Overturf's question, "Do you think we got our money's worth out of these streets?" Borough Manager McConnell said it was too early to decide "but they look good at present."

Possible means of alleviating the flood conditions in lower Fourth avenue, and the expense involved, were discussed. Mr. McConnell estimated it would cost between $600 and $1,000 to build a dike to divert the water into the main ditch leading to the river.

During the report made by Councilman J. G. Smith, chairman of the Police committee, Council voted to accept the resignation of Patrolman Fred Irwin, who has taken other employment, and Mr. Smith asked the Civil Service Commission to advertise an examination for borough policeman. Mr. Smith reported 546 arrests during November, 468 of which were for parking violations, and the collection of $752.50 in fines. Meter collections totaled $2,264.60.

Councilman C. A. Miller, chairman of the buildings and building code committee, explained in detail the reasons for establishing a $25 minimum charged by the Board of Adjustment for hearings on zoning applications. He said that in most instances the matters can be settled on the spot by the committee members and the property owner, but when a hearing is necessary, the cost of advertising, the work of the borough solicitor, engineer and committee mounts up, with sometimes a $10 charge for a court stenographer. "Taking all matters into consideration, it is much to my regret that the fee has to be so high, but it must cover the borough's expense," said Mr. Miller, and explained that any amount in excess of the $25 minimum must also be paid by the applicant.

Council discussed at some length the proposed plan of the Sterling Oil Company to permanently close the parking area entrance between its property in Times Square and the Hanna Motor Sales building, feeling that this action presents a fire hazard when it might become necessary to send fire equipment into the area along the mill race and in back of buildings on Pennsylvania avenue, west. Once again the plan to build a ramp onto the Liberty street bridge came up for discussion, emphatically opposed by Burgess W. F. Crossett and some Council members, upheld by some others who had been against the plan heretofore.

It was reported that all accounts of Mrs. Marjorie L. Dougherty, who resigned last month after many years as borough secretary, had been audited and found in perfect order.

Borough Manager McConnell spoke to Council regarding the disregard of motorists in giving a right-of-way to speeding fire trucks, and said he saw a narrow escape for the East Side truck and a private automobile as the truck was on its way to a fire at the United Refinery, last night. He cited what happened in Erie a few months ago when a fire truck and car collided. He said he witnessed complete disregard on the part of motorists on Pennsylvania avenue, last night.

In closing the meeting, Mr. Rice thanked Mr. Patchen for the gift of a beautiful gavel, and complimented the retiring councilmen upon their cooperation and for the many fine things accomplished for the borough during their tenure of office.

LAWRENCE CO. JUDGE QUARRELS WITH D. A.

New Castle, Dec. 11—P—Lawrence County District Attorney Sherman Levine has until December 17 to show why he should not be held in contempt of court.

Presiding Judge Walter Braham cited Levine yesterday and said the district attorney refused to appear in a courtroom although two messengers had been sent by the judge. Judge Braham added: "The district attorney's conduct was wilfully and deliberately calculated to impair and did impair the dignity and authority of the courts of Lawrence county."
